3. SCHOOLS

Type and Level of Schools

3.1 The second and most important part of this survey was the schools. In 149 districts of 17 provinces of Afghanistan a total of 1,708 schools were surveyed. Most of these schools were situated in Badakhshan (254), followed by Nangarhar with (190) and Kapisa and Takhar with 148 and 147 schools, respectively (see Table 5 and Figure 2).

3.2 From 1,708 surveyed schools, 1,582 were modern, 109 religious and 17 (all in Kunar province) not specified. These schools were listed as, 58 home schools, 980 primary schools, 317 middle schools and 246 high schools (lycee) with 107 unknown (see Figure 3). Male schools totalled 1,381, female schools 125, and 199 schools accepted both sexes, 3 remained unspecified.

Funding Sources and Type of Support

3.3 Of the schools surveyed, 891 were funded by government, 531 by NGOs, 102 by Tanzeem, 4 by private sources, 131 by community, and the funding sources of 124 schools was unknown (see Table 6 and Figure 4). In Bamyan 38 schools and in Paktia 23 schools were funded by two sources (government and NGOs). There were two schools one in Bamyan and one in Takhar which were funded by three sources (government, NGOs, and Tanzeem). There were 49 NGOs supporting schools in the surveyed areas (see Figure 5 and for the names of schools and funding sources see Appendix D).

3.4 The above funding sources (mainly government and NGOs), provided salaries for 1,336 schools, textbooks for 1,278 schools, stationery for 824 schools and the type of support for 332 schools was unknown. Two items were provided to 1,253 schools (salary and textbooks) and 810 schools were provided three items (salary, textbooks and stationery), this means that some schools could have been counted more than once, depending on the number of items they received.

3.5 The Government supported 891 of the 1,708 surveyed schools. The highest number 185 in both Badakhshan and Nangarhar, Takhar 109 and 85 in each Kapisa and Kunduz. Surveyed schools of Bamyan and Paktika, did not receive any kind of support from the government (see Table 6).

Schools Supported by SCA

3.6 SCA support some 412 of the 1,708 surveyed schools, 61 in Badakhshan, 54 in Wardak 49 in Ghazni, 43 in Kunar, 41 in Takhar and 34 in Paktika, with only 1 in Samangan. Schools of Balkh, Nangarhar, Paktia and Parwan, did not receive any kind of support from the SCA (see Table 7 and Figure 6). SCA support more schools than the number mentioned above, however, not all of the SCA supported schools were surveyed.

3.7 SCA provided funding for at least one item such as salary, textbooks, and stationery for 412 surveyed schools. In some cases they provided two of these items and for 387 schools and three items (salary, textbook and stationery) for 361 of the surveyed schools. Some schools may have been counted more than once, depending on which types of support they received. The type of support to 22 surveyed schools was unknown (for the names and location of the schools supported by SCA see Appendix E).

School Buildings

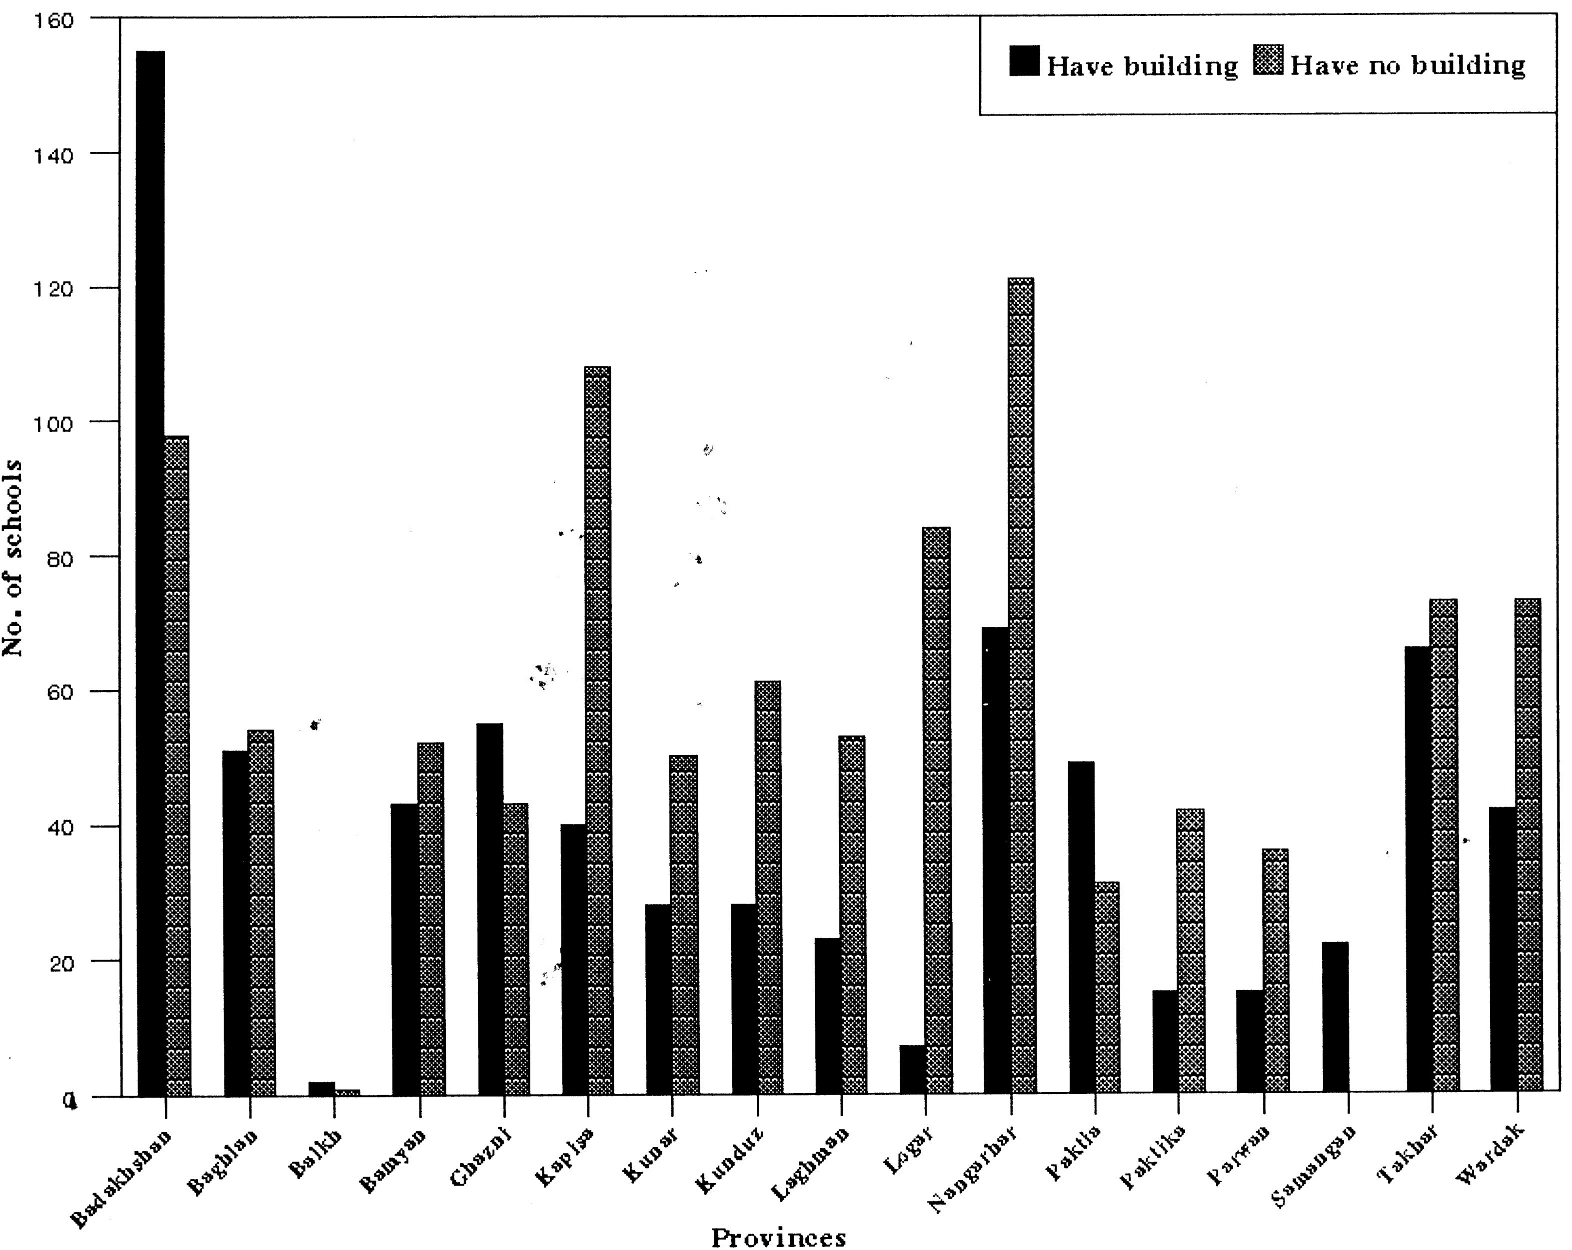

3.8 From 1,708 surveyed schools, 710 had buildings, 980 had no building and 18 were unknown (see Figure 7). Out of the 710 school buildings, 438 were mud constructions and 254 concrete, 18 were unknown. The average number of rooms in the school buildings was 11 (see Table 8).

3.9 Only 221 (13%) of the surveyed schools had toilet facilities. There were 571 school buildings in need of reconstruction. The type of reconstruction most necessary was; walls, door and window, roof, floor, plaster, painting, etc.

Drinking Water Sources

3.10 In 1,708 surveyed schools, 9 different sources of drinking water; 276 schools were using river water, 426 schools canal/joy (stream) water, 181 had drinking water wells, 2 schools had reservoirs, 6 schools had "Houze" (drinking water pond or pool), 4 schools were using dam water and in 10 schools piped water was available. There were 227 schools using spring water, 67 schools used "karez" (underground water canal). The drinking water source of 540 surveyed schools was unknown. Of the schools surveyed 31 had more than one source of drinking water (see Table 9).

Schools Necessities

3.11 In reply to the question about the main necessities, 39 different items were reported by the surveyed schools. All items fell into 12 categories (see Table 10). Percentage wise, 61% of the surveyed schools needed school building(s), 2% needed either laboratory and library or health facilities, 15% indicated lack of drinking water, 10% needed toilet facilities, 0,4% were in need of professional teachers, 18% had no salaries, 44% needed textbooks, 44% furniture, 60% needed stationery, 39% were faced with shortage of carpets, and 6% needed other items (fan, land, refrigerator, sports equipment, stove, etc.). Each surveyed school reported the need for more than one of the items.

3.12 From 17 surveyed provinces, Kunar was the only province where the main necessities of the surveyed schools were not recorded.

FOREWORD

For effective implementation and successful completion of projects, proper planning, supervision, monitoring and evaluation are indispensable.

The Swedish Committee for Afghanistan (SCA) as one of the largest Non Governmental Organizations (NGOs) has been working for the welfare of Afghans since 1982. One of its main activities is in the sector of Education. SCA has, for the last 10-11 years, been supporting many schools in the provinces of north- and south eastern Afghanistan.

As indicated, organizational activities need intensive monitoring and evaluation for effective implementation and continuation of projects. The Education Technical Support Unit of the SCA (SCA/ETSU) decided to carry out a general survey in the provinces where SCA support schools. The main objective of the SCA/ETSU from this survey was to learn the number of schools in these areas, what kind of support they and the sources of this support. This information was to assist SCA/ETSU in their planning and ensure they were targeting areas most in need.

The findings of this study will also enable SCA/ETSU to coordinate with other NGOs and Governmental Organizations (GOs) working in education in these areas. They will be able to improve their programme and utilize available funds to help needy people in the surveyed provinces.

We hope that the survey result will stimulate discussion between organizations and institutions working in the surveyed area will provide some feedback and useful suggestions.

Finally, we would like to express our thanks to the staff of SCA's Regional Offices (ROs), particularly to those of the Education Section who contributed to the success of this survey and to the ACBAR Survey Unit for their work on the provision of this report.

4. STUDENTS

4.1 Students, as the main component of the schools, were divided based on the type of school, their sex and classes (grades 1-12). There was problem in the collection of this part of information; some of the surveyors filled out the questionnaire (the table about the students) dividing the student numbers into the relevant grades. However, in some questionnaires only the total number of the students in the surveyed schools were shown and not their distribution in different grades (1-12), There are two columns in Tables 12 and 14 which show the total number of students based on distribution into classes and without class distribution.

Number of Male Students

4.2 In 1708 surveyed schools, there were 549,737 students (both male and female). Of these students 488,723 (89%) were male; with 3,559 in home schools, 175,819 primary schools, 125,608 in middle schools, and 167,971 in high school (lycee). The level of modern school for 942 students was unknown. The total number of students in religious schools was 11,951 and the type of school for 2,873 students (only in Kunar province) was unknown (see Table 11).

() Sum of undistributed male students into different classes.

4.4 In some schools of Baghlan, Ghazni, Parwan and Wardak, the distribution of students in different grades was not shown, therefore, for these provinces the last two columns of Table 12 show different data of total students. In Paktika no students were reported in grades 9-12 and in Bamyan there were no students in grade 12.

Number of Female Students

4.5 Only 61,014 (11%) of the students in the schools were female (for the number of male and female students see also Figure 8). Of them 887 were in home schools, 18,424 in primary schools, 8,014 in middle schools, and 32,031 were in high school (lycee). The level of modern school for 387 female students was unknown. The total number of female students studying in religious schools was 483, and the type of school for 788 female students (only in Kunar) was unknown. Religious schools for female students were found in four provinces; Badakhshan, Kapisa, Kunar, and Nangarhar (see Table 13).

4.6 From the female students there were 18,091 in grade one, 2,774 in grade six 1,399 in grade nine and 777 in grade 12. Numbers of students decreased with the increase in grade level (see Table 14).

4.7 There were some surveyed schools in Kunar and Parwan which did not indicate the distribution of the students in different grades. They only recorded the total number of the female students in a school. Therefore, the last two columns of Table 14 indicate two types of female students total, one for class distribution and another for total number of all female students in the surveyed schools.

4.8 In six provinces of Badakhshan, Baghlan, Balkh, Kunduz, Nangarhar and Samangan there were female students in all grades (1-12). However, in Paktika female students were only present in grades 1-4, and in Paktia they were only present in grades 1-3.

5. TEACHERS

Education Fields and Qualification

5.1 In 1,708 surveyed schools there were 18,428 teachers. There were 16,162 (88%) male teachers and 2,266 female. Paktia was the only surveyed province with no female teachers (see Table 15 and Figure 9). The education specialty of 10,703 teachers was natural sciences, 3,170 social sciences and 3,054 theology. The education specialty of 1,501 teachers was unknown.

5.2 The education level (qualification) of 5,000 teachers was less than 12th grade, the level of 9,888 teachers was between 12-13 grades, 2,771 teachers studied up to 14-15 grades and 733 teachers studied up to 16 years (B.Sc. and B.A.). The education level of 36 teachers was more than 16 grades (M.Sc. and M.A).

Age and Teaching Experience

5.3 Out of 18,428 teachers in the surveyed schools, 129 were younger than 20, 4,993 were between 20-30 years old, 7,804 were between 31-40, 3,998 were between the ages of 41-50 and 824 teachers were older than 50 year. The age of 680 teachers was unknown (see Table 16).

5.4 The teaching experience of 6,596 teachers was between 1-5 years, 3,164 teachers had teaching experience between 6-10 years, 2,348 had 11-15 years experience, 1,583 had 16-20 years experience, 1,299 had 21-25 years experience, 764 had 26-30 years experience and 246 teachers had teaching experience of more than 30 years. The teaching experience of 2,428 teachers was unknown which includes 473 teachers in Bamyan where this data was not collected.

- To provide information on the type and level of schools, gender of their students, condition and availability of school buildings, and sources of drinking water of the schools.
- To indicate the total number of students, distinguishing the number of male and female students based on school level (primary, middle, secondary) and their distribution in different grades (1 through 12).
- To asses the total number of teachers (male, female), their education fields, qualification, age, and teaching experience.
- To determine the interest of the local people in education and encourage them in community participation for sustainable education in target areas.
- To specify over-served and under-served provinces/districts as well as different ethnic groups in the target areas regarding support of education and facilities.

Survey Methodology

1.8 A survey questionnaire was prepared (Appendix A). A group of 17 enumerators were hired and were trained for the implementation of the survey. Each enumerator was responsible for specific province/provinces according to the number of schools in the area to be surveyed. They filled out one form per education directorate and/or school. Supervisors from education sections of Regional Offices (RO) monitored implementation of the survey.

1.9 The survey units were education directorates and schools administration, they were visited by enumerators individually.

1.10 Within the assigned provinces/districts the enumerators were not provided with any list of schools prior to the survey. They were asked to visit education directorates (if exist) obtain a permit from them and then carry out the survey of the schools wherever they were found in their assigned areas.

1.11 In 17 target provinces, 149 districts (see Appendix D) were surveyed. A total of 1,762 questionnaires were completed. Of these questionnaires, 1,708 were about schools and 54 about the status of education directorates.

1.12 On completion of the field work, the questionnaires were checked by ROs and/or ETSU. The data entered on the computers and data analysis was completed at a later stage. The results are consolidated in the following tables and text of this report.

6. OPINIONS OF LOCAL PEOPLE CONCERNING EDUCATION

6.1 The surveyors were instructed to interview and ascertain the opinion of the local people. The interviews suppose to be done in the area surrounding two schools of each province surveyed. This was done in 11 of the 17 surveyed provinces. These interviews were not carried out in Baghlan, Balkh, Kapisa, Logar, Parwan and Samangan.

6.2 In the 11 provinces, 100 people were asked to give their opinion about education and type of schools they preferred. All of those interviewed showed an interest in education. In reply to the question about which type of school they preferred, 15 showed a preference for modern schools only, 9 religious schools only, while the majority (76) of the local people would prefer to have the choice of both types of schools (see Table 17).

6.3 With reference to community contribution, 10 people would be able or willing to pay teachers' salary the remainder, due to their financial constraints, would be unable to contribute to this. Thirty of the interviewed people would be willing to provide textbooks and 50 thought that they could provide stationery for their children. Fifty eight people were willing to provide free labour for the reconstruction of their schools. Forty three of the people interviewed would be willing to provide more than one of the mentioned items, while 5 of them would be willing to provide more than two items.

2. EDUCATION DIRECTORATES

2.1 According to the organizational structure of the ministry of education, each Province of Afghanistan had one education directorate. In some districts there was an education officer in charge, who managed the education affairs of the related schools. For several years, while different provinces and even districts have been controlled by different Mujahideen factions, each faction has its own education directorate managing their education affairs. This means that some provinces can have more than one education directorate (see Survey Rèsults at a Glance).

2.2 Of the surveyed districts Badakhshan Province had the highest number (14) of education directorates. In Ghazni in 10 surveyed districts each district had its own education directorate. The Provinces of Nangarhar, Kapisa, Kunar, Laghman and Takhar each had one education directorate. There were no education directorates in the surveyed areas of Balkh, Logar, Paktika, Parwan and Samangan provinces.

Staff and their Qualification

2.3 In 54 surveyed education directorates, there were 618 staff. They were divided into three main categories; 305 technical staff, 148 teachers, and 165 support staff (see Table 1).

2.4 In reply to their staff qualifications (ability and capacity), only 5 education directorates in Paktia indicated the level of staff qualification as "very poor", 4 education directorates (Ghazni, Kunar, Laghman and Nangarhar) considered the level of staff qualification as "poor". In 18 education directorates, 9 of them in Ghazni, considered the level of staff qualification as "satisfactory". The qualification of 27 directorates was unknown.

Working Sites and Related Schools

2.5 The number of modern schools in the surveyed education directorates were; home school 1, primary schools 1027, middle schools 265, and lycee 202. The number of religious schools was 168 (64 Darul-hifaz and 104 Madrasa). The total number of modern and religious school related to the surveyed directorates was 1,663 (see Table 2 and Figure 1).

2.6 The number of schools reported by the education directorates (1,663 in Table 2) is inconsistent with the number of the individually surveyed schools (1,708 in Table 5). This is due to the fact that in some provinces (see paragraph 2.2), education directorates did not exist, therefore, a total of 45 surveyed schools were not included in the education directorate's forms.

2.7 From 54 surveyed education directorates, 7 were responsible for education affairs of the whole related provinces, 3 of them were working in almost whole related provinces, while 18 of them were active in part of their provinces and the rest (3) had authority only in the related cities.

Financial Situation and Funding Sources

2.8 Of the surveyed education directorates, 5 considered their financial situation as "satisfactory", 15 thought their situation was "poor" and 34 remained "unknown" (see Table 3).

2.9 In Ghazni 3 out of 10 surveyed education directorates, in Baghlan 1 out of 3 and Takhar's education directorate were satisfied with their financial situation.

2.10 Funding sources of these education directorates were; 17 were supported by government, 4 by NGOs, 3 by Tanzeem (only reported in Bamyan province), and 4 by the community. Six were funded by more than one source (usually government and NGO). The funding source of the 32 was unknown. For cumulative information and the main priorities of the education directorates see Appendices B and C.

GOs and NGOs Activity Fields at the EDs' Working Sites

2.11 There were 24 Governmental Organizations (GOs) working in the areas surveyed. They were responsible for programmes in, education, agriculture, health and industry sectors (see Table 4).

2.12 There were also, 217 Non Governmental Organizations (NGOs) implementing projects in education, agriculture, health, reconstruction, demining, food distribution, water supply, etc.

2.13 Of these NGOs, 148 were active in Nangarhar, 23 in Ghazni. In the surveyed areas of Balkh, Kunduz, Logar, Paktika, Parwan, and Samangan provinces the existence of NGOs were not reported.

2.14 The total number of GOs and NGOs reported in this survey seems to be more than their real number. This may be due to the same GOs and NGOs working in more than one education directorate. Not all of the GOs and NGOs were listed by their full name in the survey forms, in some cases the enumerators reported only their numbers and activities, making identification impossible.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This survey was carried out by the Swedish Committee for Afghanistan/Education Technical Support Unit (SCA/ETSU). The report was prepared by the Agency Coordinating Body for Afghan Relief, Survey Unit (ACBAR/SU) in contract with the SCA/ETSU.

Thanks go to Bjorn Hagen, the former Executive Director of SCA, who obtained the funding for this survey from European Commission (EC) and for the successful initiation of programmes and for encouraging the education staff of SCA to undertake this survey. Roza Gul, Education Chief Technical Advisor, Eng. Amir Mohammad Mansuri, Education Technical Advisor, and Barbara Peterson, Education Expert of SCA/ETSU who initially designed the survey. ETSU with help of the SCA's Regional Offices (ROs) selected and trained the enumerators and organized the field survey. The field survey was conducted by 17 SCA/ETSU enumerators. Their contribution is much appreciated.

Abdul Hakim Murad, ACBAR Survey Unit Manager, refined the survey questionnaire and designed a new format for the data entry. Charles A. MacFadden, Executive Director of ACBAR, for his useful advice and Liz Spencer, PA to the Executive Director of ACBAR and Program Officer, edited the draft. Their efforts are highly appreciated.

Dipl. Ing. Mohammad Omar Anwarzay drafted the text, tables and figures of this report. Data analysis and processing were completed by the ACBAR Survey Unit: Engineer Hamidullah, Data Analyst, Abdul Rahman, Assistant Data Analyst, Engineer Ziauddin, Khalil Rahman Haqjo, Abdul Jalal and Haji Mohammad Osman Zulal. Their hard work is acknowledged.

Last but not least, SCA would like to thank all education directorates, school administrations and local governing authorities, who participated and cooperated in this survey, the results of which are consolidated in this report.

SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS

The Swedish Committee for Afghanistan/Education Technical Support Unit (SCA/ETSU) initiated and carried out the "Education Survey" in 17 provinces of eastern Afghanistan between July - December 1994. The main purpose of the survey was to provide general information on the status of education (see Appendix A).

A survey questionnaire was designed and enumerators were selected and trained by the Regional Offices (ROs). Seventeen (17) enumerators implemented the survey. The surveyed units were; education directorates and school administrations who were visited individually. One questionnaire form was completed for each surveyed education directorate and/or school. The results of the survey are presented at province level and general information on individual survey units are included in the Appendices B-F.

The results of the survey are as follows:

- Based on this survey, in 17 provinces, 149 districts were surveyed. There were a total of 54 directorates in the surveyed areas. In 1,708 surveyed schools, a total of 18,428 teachers were reported; 16,162 male and 2,266 female. There were a total of 549,737 students; 488,723 male and 61,014 female; in the surveyed schools (refer to Survey Results at a Glance, presented after this summary).

Education Directorates

- The number of education directorates varied from province to province; in Kapisa, Kunar, Laghman, Nangarhar and Takhar Provinces there was one education directorate. Balkh, Logar, Paktika, Parwan and Samangan did not have any education directorate. In the remaining seven (7) provinces there was more than one education directorate. For example, in Badakhshan fourteen (14), in Ghazni ten (10) and Kunduz and Paktia each had seven (7) education directorates.

- In 54 surveyed education directorates, 618 staff and 1,663 schools were reported. These schools were 1,495 modern (home, primary, middle and lycee) and the remaining 168 were religious schools (Darul-hifaz and Madrasa).

- Of the 54 surveyed education directorates, 7 worked in their whole provinces, 3 in almost all parts of their provinces, 18 in some parts of their provinces and 3 in cities only.

- The financial situation of the surveyed education directorates varied a great deal; fifteen (15) of them claimed to be "poor", while five (5) were satisfied with their financial situation. Funding sources were government seventeen (17), Tanzeem three (3), Community four (4) and thirty two (32) remained unknown.

- In the areas of the surveyed education directorates, 24 Governmental Organizations (GOs) and 217 Non Governmental Organizations (NGOs) were active. They were undertaking projects in the fields of education, agriculture, health, reconstruction, demining, etc.

Schools

- From 1,708 surveyed schools, the number of schools, based on type were: modern 1,582, Religious 109 and unknown 17. They are in the following categories: home schools 58, primary schools 980, middle schools 317, lycee 246 and unknown 107. Out of these, 1,381 schools were for boys, 125 for girls and the 199 mixed.

- Of all the schools surveyed, the government supported 891, NGOs 531, Tanzeem 102, private 4, and the community 131. Funding sources of 124 schools was unknown, but 73 schools were funded by both government and NGOs and two schools were funded by the government, NGOs and Tanzeem. Government and NGOs provided funds to cover such things as salary, textbooks, and stationery. In some cases all items were provided.

- The Government supported 891 of the 1,708 surveyed schools. The highest number 185 in both Badakhshan and Nangarhar, Takhar 109 and 85 in each Kapisa and Kunduz. Surveyed schools of Bamyan and Paktika, did not receive any kind of support from the government.

- SCA supported 412 schools in the surveyed provinces. They were provided with funds for one or more items, such as Salary, textbooks and stationery. The majority of SCA supported schools were in Badakhshan (61), Wardak (54), Ghazni (49), Kunar (43), Takhar (41) and Paktika (34). SCA support more schools than the number mentioned above, however, not all of the SCA supported schools were surveyed.

- Of the surveyed schools 710 had buildings of varying structures, 438 were made of mud and 254 were made of concrete. The type of construction of the remaining eighteen (18) was unknown. The average number of rooms per school was 11. Some amount of reconstruction is necessary in 571 schools. Only 13% of the surveyed schools have toilet facilities.

- Sources of drinking water for the schools was, 25% of them have access to canal/joy (stream), 16% river water, and 13% had access to spring water. The drinking water source of 32% of schools was unknown. The rest of the surveyed schools reported wells, "karez" (underground canal), etc. as their drinking water sources.

- The main priorities as listed by the schools were; school buildings (61%), stationery (60%), textbook and furniture each (44%), carpets (39%), salary (18%), drinking water (15%), latrine (10%), other items had a lower priority.

Students

- In all schools 89% of students were male. From them 97% were studying in modern schools, 2.4% in religious schools, the type of schools for the remaining 0.6% of male student was unknown. Grades; 22% of male students were in grade one, 7% in grade six, 2.3% in grade nine and 0.7% in grade 12, which shows a decrease in the number of the students with the increase in the grade levels.

- From 61,014 female students, 97.9% were studying in modern schools and 0.8%

in religious schools, the type of school for 1.3% of female students was unknown. Grades; 30% of female students were in grade one, 4.5% in grade six, 2.3% in grade nine and 1.3% in grade 12. The number of female students also decreased with the increase in grade levels.

Teachers

- The sex of the teachers in the schools was, 88% male and 12% female. The qualification subjects of the teachers were; natural science 10,703, social sciences 3,170, theology 3,054 and 1,501 remain unknown. The education level of 5,000 teachers was lower than 12 grade, 9,888 teachers studied for 12-13 years and 2,771 for 14-15 years, 733 for 16 years, and 36 teachers had an education level higher than grade 16.

- The ages of the teachers varied a great deal influencing the number of years experience available. The ages of 18,428 teachers were; 129 (0.7%) younger than 20 years, 7,804 (42%) were aged between 31-40 years, and 824 (4.5%) were older than 50 years. The number of years experience of these teachers was; 6,596 (36%) had 1-5 years, 1,583 (8.6%) had 16-20 years and 246 (1.3%) had more than 30 years of teaching experience.

Opinions of Local People Concerning Education

- In the surveyed provinces, 100 people were interviewed. All of them supported education; 15% wanted only modern, 9% only religious and 76% both types of schools. Of the people interviewed, 10% were willing to provide teachers' salary, 30% would provide textbooks and 50% were prepared to provide stationery for their children. At the time of this survey, 43% of them were willing to provide two of the above items and 5% more than two. More than half of these people (58%) would be willing to provide free laborer for the reconstruction of their schools.

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Swedish Committee for Afghanistan (SCA) is a humanitarian organization founded in 1980. SCA opened its Peshawar office in 1982 in order to assist the war victims in Afghanistan. The Swedish Government through the Swedish International Development Agency (SIDA) is the main source of finance, but substantial funds come from UN agencies and collections in Sweden.

1.2 Initially, SCA's major assistance was the distribution of medicine and medical supplies. Presently, the SCA is funding substantial aid programmes which have always focused on activities taking place in the rural areas of Afghanistan. Services include education, health and agriculture.

1.3 Since 1984, SCA has been supporting primary education (grades one through six) in Afghanistan. Based on SCA's 1994 annual report, 570 primary schools with a total of 122,175 students were supported by SCA during that year. In 1993, SCA also began basic education and vocational training for women, and by the end of 1994, a total of 716 women had received training.

1.4 SCA has three Regional Offices (ROs) in Afghanistan, the three ROs has an Education Manager. Nangarhar RO covers 5 provinces of Nangarhar, Laghman, Kunar, Kapisa and Parwan. Ghazni RO also covers 5 provinces namely Ghazni, Logar, Paktika, Bamyan and Wardak. The third RO is located in Takhar and covers 6 provinces (Takhar, Badakhshan, Kunduz, Baghlan, Samangan, and Balkh).

1.5 There is an Education Technical Support Unit (ETSU) in the Central Management Office in Peshawar, which maintains close contact with each education section of the ROs. The ETSU deals with quality control, development and coordination, including supervision and monitoring visits to Afghanistan.

1.6 This report presents the results of an "Education Survey" which was carried out by SCA/ETSU in 17 provinces of Afghanistan during July-December 1994 in order to achieve the following objectives.

Survey Objectives

1.7 The main objective of the survey was to view the present status of education with regard to information about the education directorates, schools, students, teachers and opinion of local people about the future of education in target areas (north east, 17 provinces) of Afghanistan. The specific objectives of this survey were as follows:

- To establish, the needs and ability of local education directorates to run education affairs, at present and in the future in a sustainable manner.
- To specify the funding sources, in the target areas; if they are Governmental Organizations (GOs), Non Governmental Organizations (NGOs) or Community funded.
